

Infor MyDay

➔ Transform the way you work with Infor MyDay, our new, groundbreaking, role-driven information delivery and action platform.

Do business better.

Top performance demands real-time information and detailed control. Aircraft, spacecraft, and nuclear submarines all feature advanced control consoles designed to help operators run a powerful vehicle efficiently. They get superior results by organizing the most important operating controls and status information in a single, clear, instantly accessible arrangement. Now you can bring that kind of power to your business with the integrated information and control built into Infor™ MyDay, our innovative new, role-based application interface.

Leverage experience.

At Infor, our expertise begins with software, but it runs much deeper than that. It extends all the way down to the essential details that make your business tick. We build powerful business-specific intelligence into every application we offer. Infor MyDay is the latest example of how we build real world expertise into applications that give you powerful business results. Our global team includes experts in finance, retail, manufacturing, supply chain management, asset management, and the full range of business functions that you need to be successful now and in the future.

Get business specific.

Transformational inventions usually defy description at first but seem obvious later. Infor MyDay is that kind of groundbreaking advance in business technology, with the potential to profoundly change the way you work. After thousands of hours of study, our experts have identified the specific daily tasks of hundreds of specific career positions in our customers' organizations and defined the exact collection of information and actions that help you accomplish that job effectively. We call each collection a role, the set of actions and data most closely associated with a specific, defined job in an organization, such as V.P of finance, controller or production planner. MyDay gathers the information that's most relevant to your responsibilities and puts it at your fingertips so that you can make rapid decisions and finish your daily work quickly and efficiently. This information is specific not only to your role in the organization, but also to the industry in which you compete. You can view and take action on the information from a single location on your computer, no matter where the data originated—inside or outside your organization or around the globe. That way, you spend less time searching for information and more time getting your job done.

User-based interfaces aren't a new idea, but role-driven information raises the concept to a new level by organizing it in business terms and making it instantly actionable. You not only gain efficiency, you get the built-in business acumen that our experts have gathered through decades of experience and thousands of hours of direct research. We've defined more than 150 roles that will be served through MyDay as a feature of many popular Infor applications, beginning with the most critical tasks and frequently requested functions.

See results now.

We will include Infor MyDay as the "face" of a growing list of selected Infor applications over time. If you already own Infor software, your existing investment in that software will gain value as more roles are included. You'll also get the advantage of a rapid, non-disruptive rollout of MyDay through Infor Open SOA, which will add even more power and flexibility to all of your Infor applications and give you powerful new connections to non-Infor applications. In the end you'll get a rich, targeted user experience that will permanently improve the way you do business.
